"IN THE SWIM."

BY A CITY SHARK.

The markets continue to present a thoroughly robust appearance, the settlement having revealed a short supply of floating stock in several departments. Business, both speculative and for investment, is a great deal more active than has been the case for several months; buying goes on continually in gold and securities, home and foreign bonds, and foreign bonds of good class. Nor does the upward movement show, as yet, any symptom of coming to a halt. There are, of course, occasional set-backs consequent upon realisations, but they are quickly taken place, and quotations go higher and higher. Even American rails have come to a halt, but they are so delectable that my readers would do well to resist the temptation of taking a hand in the game.

Those who bought either Canadian Pacific or Grand Trunk when I first tipped them as good things, had better take profits on part of their commitments. The account for the rise has become distinctly too heavy in both instances, and the likelihood seems to be that opportunities will occur for buying on cheaper terms. All the same, no doubt for a moment that a considerably higher level of prices will be ultimately attained by these excellent securities.

The event of the week has been, however, the wonderful yield of the Rand for gold, which amounts to more than 310,712oz., being just over 100,000oz. per diem, Sundays included, and beats record by 15,880oz. In 1896 the December yield was 206,518oz., and we thus have a growth of more than 100,000oz. during the 12 months. No wonder, therefore, that the South African market has been going strongly, especially in deep levels. Rose Deep figures with a net profit of £16,000 on the month's working. Nourse Deep with £5,200 profit, and Crown Deep with £21,000 profit.

Rhodesian securities, especially Chartered, are also in good demand; indeed, the whole aspect of affairs in the West is most promising. Westralians, on the other hand, have been a bit frost-bitten, but they will have their turn by-and-by.
